Position Announcement

Title: Soil Health Technician – Temporary Seasonal Intern

Location: USDA Ag Service Center, Okanogan, Washington

Description: The Okanogan Conservation District is seeking a highly motivated individual to fill a temporary/seasonal Soil Health Technician - Intern position. The Okanogan Conservation District is a dynamic organization comprised of volunteer board members and paid staff members that are leaders in “on the ground conservation”. We seek individuals that will complement our highly productive, energetic, and skilled staff to deliver quality conservation programs to Okanogan County residents.

We are seeking to fill an intern position to help implement an on-going project that is addressing soil health and erosion through the use of cover crops. The incumbent in this position will work closely with staff mentorship and guidance to assist local landowners, conservation partners, and others to monitor and implement live field trial cover crops programs with agricultural producers throughout North Central Washington.

Incumbents with a high-school diploma or equivalent and are currently working towards a degree in soils, general natural resources, environmental sciences, natural resource management, agricultural sciences, range management, forestry, water quality, wildlife management biology, engineering, or closely related fields are encouraged to apply.

Wages and Benefits: The incumbent will be an hourly employee earning $10.00 - $15.00 per hour DOQ. This position is not eligible for benefits such as health insurance, retirement, holiday, vacation, or sick leave.

Application Deadline and Instructions: This position is open until filled. Contact the Okanogan Conservation District office for detailed position descriptions.

Applicants must submit a cover letter, resume, and three references (at least two of which are professional) directly to:
