This is a collection of external resources that entails to promote understanding, awareness, dialogue, and action. Click on the titles to visit the different resources. We recognize that this is not an exhaustive list and that this kind of tools do not bring a change per se. Only through collective action we will be able to put an end to systemic racism.

Antiracism Resources

- UW Libraries Racial Justice Resources
- UW Libraries Environmental Justice Research Guide
- First, Listen. Then, Learn: Anti-Racism Resources For White People shared by Julia Wuench through Forbes
- Racial Equity Tools- A site with thousands of resources and ideas
- Racial Identity Caucusing: A Strategy for Building Anti-Racist Collectives by Crossroads
- Talking about Race- A site created by the Smithsonian National Museum of African American History and Culture to help steer conversations about racism, racial identity, and the way these forces shape every aspect of society.
- Tools for White Anti-Racist Organizing by the Catalyst Project

Great Podcasts

- Code Switch, an NPR podcast tackling race issues
- Hear To Slay a black feminist podcast led by Roxane Gay and Tressie McMillan Cottom
- Intersectionality Matters! hosted by Kimberlé Crenshaw
- Jemele Hill is Unbothered, a podcast created by journalist Jemele Hill

Educate yourself about issues affecting the Black community and learn how to become a better ally

- Black People Need Stronger White Allies — Here’s How You Can Be One (Refinery29)
- COVID-19 in Racial and Ethnic Minority Groups (Center for Disease Control and Prevention)
- Healing Resources for BIPOC Organizers & Allies Taking Action for Black Lives (Medium)
- How You Can Be Ally to the Black Lives Matter Movement (Great Big Story)
- Leveraging White Privilege for Racial Justice (Yes)
- Research Brief: Black LGBTQ Youth Mental Health (The Trevor Project)
- White Fragility and the Rules of Engagement (Robin DiAngelo)
- Who Gets to Be Afraid in America? (The Atlantic)
Antiracist Articles around Environmental Topics

- Being black while in nature: 'You’re an endangered species' (The Guardian)
- Black Environmentalists Talk About Climate and Anti-Racism (The New York Times)
- Black women nationwide are boldly leading a growing effort to heighten public awareness of how environmental issues like pollution and climate change affect African-Americans (University of Michigan)
- How environmental racism is fueling the coronavirus pandemic (Nature)
- How a Notorious Racist Inspired America’s National Parks (Mother Jones)
- The climate movement's silence
- The Green Movement Is Talking About Racism? It's About Time (Outside)
- The Toxic Intersection of Racism and Public Space (City Lab)
- These Black nature lovers are busting stereotypes, one cool bird at a time (CNN)
- What you should know about Black birders (The Conversation)
- Why racial justice is climate justice (Grist)

Teaching in the Context of BLM

- A Collection of Resources for Teaching Social Justice (Cult of Pedagogy)
- Teaching in Solidarity (Teaching Tolerance)
- Turning Current Events Instruction Into Social Justice Teaching (Edutopia)

Twitter lists

- Black AF in STEM, organizers of #BlackBirdersWeek
- Black and STEM’s list of lists to find Black researchers by discipline
- BLACKSTEM Global’s list of influencers
- Black Lives Matter’s list of chapters
- Mary Annaïse Heglar’s list of Green Voices of Color

_Disclaimer: Consider that the contents, views, opinions, and conclusions expressed in the following external resources are those of the author(s) or organization(s) and not necessarily those of the University of Washington._